OUR STORY

Established in 1993 and headquartered in Dubai ever since its inception, Bayat Group has fast become a household name in the investment migration circuit which always goes the extra mile for clients while placing integrity at the very core of its ethos.

The fact that the law firm will be celebrating its 30th anniversary next year in an industry notorious for cut-throat competition that routinely sees newcomers go under just as swiftly as they pop up is no small feat either. Having initially started and made a name for himself as the sole UAE-based provider of Canadian Permanent Residence, founder Sam Bayat was quick to clock the burgeoning demand for alternative citizenship in the Gulf where expatriates enjoy little to no sense of belonging. Needless to say, his intuition has paid off as the company boasts a footprint in 10 different jurisdictions today with a team of highly-qualified consultants from diverse ethnic backgrounds who take immense pride in upholding the deeply-ingrained values and ethics synonymous with Bayat.

Beyond its steadfast commitment to delivering excellence and being the go-to entity for anyone even remotely interested in second passports or domicile diversification, what sets Bayat apart from its rivals is that they do not resort to mainstream marketing as a means of generating brand awareness. By establishing long-lasting bonds with those who confided in the organization to fulfill their immigration needs, it is largely through word of mouth that new prospects hear about Bayat Group and never look back.

OUR EXPERTISE

CITIZENSHIP BY INVESTMENT PROGRAMS

Citizenship by investment (CBI) describes policies that allow individuals to obtain foreign citizenship in exchange for investment and/or government donation. CBI programs legally grant citizenship status to foreign investors in a short period compared to the traditional naturalization processes. It is also known as Economic Citizenship.

RESIDENCY BY INVESTMENT PROGRAMS

A residence by investment (RBI) is a concept describing policies, which allow individuals to gain a foreign residence in exchange for investment and/or government donation. Typically, investors obtain temporary residence status, often known as Golden Visas, and after a certain period, they can apply for permanent residence and then citizenship through naturalization.

MIGRATION PROGRAMS

Immigration programs allow foreigners to relocate to the host country together with their family members and obtain residence status there, which can lead to citizenship. Canada, the United Kingdom, Australia, and the United States of America are the principal countries allowing applications for permanent residents.

WORK / STUDY PERMIT PROGRAMS

If you are interested in migrating, you need to know that there are several categories when applying for permanent residency. You can apply as a skilled worker, an entrepreneur, or through various other programs like start-up visas, and artist visas.
